Don Gallant named Coach of the Year by Elk Point Minor Hockey

Elk Point Atom Cyclones coach Don Gallant was applauded by fellow coaches and parents Wednesday night when he won a vote as Elk Point Minor Hockey Coach of the Year by a large margin.

Gallant, in his first-ever coaching position, overcame the problems resulting from splitting the atom players into two teams, losing their star player and their goalie moving to Florida, to give the team a good season of play in which to refine their playing skills. Despite having three first-year players and several novice-age players on the team, Gallant said "we played everyone fairly" and the team worked hard and had fun. Regarding the award, Gallant said he was "still in shock. I never expected this."

Reports from the other teams were also heard at last week's Minor Hockey meeting. Mike MacDonald said the Micro Novice team had a "pretty good year overall."

Dave Cousins said the Novices had a very good year, attending three tournaments plus their own and placing second in the A at Glendon, first in the B at Bonnyville and first in their division of their league.

The Atom I team went to Provincials as winners of their zone, and ended up fourth in the province. They did equally well at league play-offs, going in in eighth spot and coming out second.

Elk Point Bantam Lightning had a great year, despite having all first year bantams and two peewees on the squad. They finished in the middle of the pack" according to coach Ron Croteau, who predicts "next year we'll have a good team."

Brian Tucker was "ecstatic" about the first year for his Midget Girls Storm. His goal was to win four games, but they won six and tied another. Most of the girls are coming back next year "and we should have a good team." Assistant coach Donna Zapesocki is willing to coach a peewee girls team if enough players are found, he added.

Midget Thunder had a tough year, according to Doug Bassett, with a shortage of players and a lack of dedication by some of those who did play. Still, they won the B side of their league and did very well at provincials.

COACH OF THE YEAR -- Don Gallant is congratulated by Elk Point Minor Hockey President Doug Bassett.

Tourist time coming

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce is preparing for summer's tourist season, and is eagerly awaiting news regarding their application for a Summer Temporary Employment Position which would be used to hire a tourist information clerk. Last fall's discussion regarding the fiscal feasibility of operating the tourist information center was revived at last week's meeting, with the suggestion by Vic Stepa of the feasibility committee that the centre operate as usual providing that a grant position is obtained.

The Chamber has agreed to join both the Midwest Tourism Group, with Vicki Brooker as the representative to that association, and the Heart of the Lakeland Marketing Organization. A representative is still needed for the latter group, which meets once a month on a Tuesday.

The Chamber is also on the lookout for a member at large for the Fort George - Buckingham House Advisory Board. The previous member at large, Ian Huffman, has left Elk Point. This position is open to any interested member of the community, who does not have to be involved with the Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber is represented on the Advisory Board by Vicki Brooker, who can be contacted for further information about this voluntary position.

Next Chamber meeting is Wednesday, April 16.

Council still shorthanded -- no nominees for seat

No nominations were received to fill the vacant seat on Elk Point Town Council at last week's By-Election Nomination Day, or in the days that followed. Now Town Manager Curt Svendsen says he must write to Minister of Municipal Affairs Iris Evans to determine what the Town must do to resolve the matter.

Elk Point, SD no stranger to spring flood danger

The heavy snow and fierce blizzards that plagued Elk Point, South Dakota earlier in the year have given way to spring, bringing with it the danger of flooding along both the Big Sioux River, a few miles east of Elk Point and the Missouri River, near the west side of the community.

The Big Sioux is expected to flood thousands of acres of land along its banks in Union County, and could threaten several farm homes. The river was expected to crest approximately six feet above flood stage on Easter Sunday. The Missouri River is not expected to flood any areas downstream from Gavins Point Dam, approximately 45 miles northwest of Elk Point.

The Elk Point area is no stranger to flooding. Major floods hit the area in 1952, 1969 and 1984. In 1952, the Missouri overflowed its banks and flooded lowlands and sloughs in the Elk Point area to a depth of four feet, but the town, on higher ground, escaped harm. A front page story from the Leader-Courier's April 17, 1952 issue, entitled "Old Muddy sets new records in 1952 flood," was reprinted in last week's Leader-Courier.

Today is election day in Elk Point, SD, where Brian Larson and Jon C. Nelson are contesting the Ward 3 Alderman seat. Kim McLaury, Ward 1 and Don Long, Ward 2, were in by acclamation for a two year term, and there is no election for mayor in Elk Point this year. Two school board members will be chosen from among four candidates for a three year term.

Volunteerism -- the heart of Elk Point

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

Next week, April 13th to April 19th is National Volunteer Week. How many of you know a person who volunteers? How many of you, yourselves, volunteer? My guess is that many of you are volunteers.

When you think of it, many things that take place in our town of Elk Point are organized and carried out by volunteers. They are the heart of Elk Point. Without them, our town just wouldn't be the same.

When people volunteer, they believe in what they do. They also believe that what they do will make a difference in someone else's life. Thus volunteers are giving and caring people.

I found a poem by an unknown author which states:

*One hundred years from now,
it will not matter*

*What kind of car I drove,
What kind of house I lived in,
How much I had in my bank account, nor what my clothes looked like.*

*But the world may be a little better
Because I was important in the life of another.*

All volunteers are number one!

My thoughts this week are ones of gratitude for our volunteers. We all need to think of those who volunteer — thank them and tell them how much we appreciate them. Recognition of what others do for us really can help the heart keep beating. After all, volunteers are the heart of Elk Point.

THANK YOU VOLUNTEERS!

View Points

Our American cousins

Last week we received another bundle of papers from our American counterpart, the Elk Point, South Dakota Leader-Courier. Once again, we were struck by how many things we have in common.

For instance, a portion of each issue of their paper is devoted to news from their schools. Obviously they, like ourselves, are proud of the many accomplishments of their students. Science fairs, sports and special events are just as exciting there as here.

Elk Point Seniors, Historical Society, TOPS, Legion and Golf and Country Club are all in the news on a regular basis. Their 4-H clubs, the Spink Achievers, Brule Go-Getters and the Busy Corral 4-H Club, are busy and active, and are currently ordering t-shirts which say "4-H -- What A Wonderful Experience."

A look at their community calendar shows elementary (or as they say, 'middle') school students putting on an evening of plays, a community theatre presentation, a choir concert and a junior/senior high band concert -- sounds familiar, doesn't it?

Their population is 1423, very close to our own. They, too have had a long, hard winter with lots of snow and cold, and now they're worrying about floods. They are close to the mighty Missouri on one side, and have another smaller river, the Big Sioux, a few miles from town on the other side. It's this smaller river that's causing trouble this year, and from the stories, it appears that the land between the town and the river is low-lying and likely to be underwater when the big thaw arrives. We, too, have some low-lying areas that tend to submerge in the spring, although the river doesn't often give us trouble. We're glad of that.

It's nice to hear from them. It's like getting a letter from far-off family to find out what they're doing and what's new, and it's great to share what we're doing with them in return.

Nutrition notes

Constipation — it's very common

By Shelley Miller-Hertes
Registered Dietician, Elk Point Health Centre

Constipation is a common problem, especially for older adults. Before one rushes out to buy medicinal remedies, consider your diet. Specifically, your fiber intake.

The typical North American diet consists of 10 to 20 grams of dietary fiber per day. Current information suggests an optimal diet contain 20 to 35 grams per day. Fiber should be added in five to ten gram increments every three to four weeks and should be distributed evenly throughout the day to reduce the occurrence of abdominal distension and flatulence. A fluid intake of 1.5 to 2 litres is encouraged to reduce the adverse symptoms associated with an increase in fiber intake.

Some tips for adding fiber to your diet"

* Whole grain cereals add bulk to the diet and help keep bowels regular.

* Beans, oat bran and some fruits contain gel-forming fiber that helps lower blood cholesterol. This gel-forming fiber may help with blood sugar control in diabetes.

* Add cereal bran to pancakes, muffins, cookies, hamburger and casseroles. Sprinkle it on desserts and cereal.

* Consume at least 4 to 5 servings of fruits and vegetables daily. Eat the skins that are edible. Substitute whole fruit for fruit juices.

* Add dried fruits to cereal and baked products.

* When baking, substitute whole wheat flour for half the white flour.

* Read nutrition labels when shopping. Choose foods with at least 2 grams dietary fiber per serving.

* For bowel regularity include regular exercise and practice regular bowel habits (don't ignore the normal urge).

This high-fiber recipe is very good on toast, crackers, ice cream, in hot cereal, etc. It's very tasty.

Fruit Lax

1/2 cup pitted dates

3/4 cup prune nectar

1/2 cup figs

3/4 cup raisins

1/2 cup pitted prunes

1. Simmer dates and prune nectar until dates are very soft.

2. Put date mixture in a blender and add figs, raisins, and prunes. Blend to a smooth paste.

3. Store in the refrigerator.

Tax Tips

By Norm Gueutal

This time of year is usually significant to students in more ways than one. As a student of a university or college, the month of April may mean the end of another year of gruelling study and homework is near. This also coincides with tax time. A big refund may be just what is needed, so taking advantage of every possible deduction becomes very important.

Not all of your income may be taxable. The first $500 of income from scholarships, fellowships, bursaries and achievement awards for example is tax exempt, as are grants under the provincial assistance programs. Student loans are completely non-taxable. Research grants are taxable, however you may deduct any expenses you incurred to conduct the research. If you earned wages as a teaching assistant it must be reported a employment income.

Tuition fees over $100 paid to a qualifying institution would normally be allowed as a tax credit, however it is important to remember that the amount that can be claimed is not the amount paid IN the taxation year, but the amount you paid FOR the taxation year. For example, fees that you paid in 1995 for 1996 should be claimed in the 1996 tax year.

You may also claim an education amount of $100 per month for every month, or part month during which you were enrolled in a qualifying educational program. Note that you do not have to be enrolled for a complete month in order claim to the full amount for that month. This credit is also available to full time post secondary students enrolled in distance education programs or correspondence courses.

If you cannot utilize the tuition fees and education amount on your tax return because your income is too low, you can transfer the unused portion to a parent or grandparent. If you are married or living in a common law relationship, you may transfer it to your spouse.

Moving expenses are also deductible however, they must be used against income from the new location. For example, if you moved to attend school, you can claim these expenses against any employment income or award income at the new location.

Lightning hits Calgary on final road trip of the season

By Doug Bassett
Elk Point Minor Hockey

Thursday morning the Bantam Lightning, on their last road trip of the season, boarded the bus and headed five hours south to the bright lights of Calgary for the annual spring classic Big "V" tournament. Forty teams of all calibre from across the province were there taking part in the action. With a pit stop in Red Deer to fuel up the boys, the team still had enough time to check in at the Holiday Inn and unpack before their first game.

The Lightning came up against some tough competition in their first round, meeting Calgary's PSA division I team. Putting up a good fight, the Lightning were defeated, sending them into the 'C' Event on Friday morning. This time the opposition was the Calgary PSA division III team. This team was more evenly matched for the Lightning, and the boys came out on top 5-2. Talented Scott Swain, who was chosen to play in the all star game Friday night, picked up a hat trick, with singles by Jordan Bassett and Brett Kopeck. With the rest of the day off, the boys enjoyed the water slides and movies while the moms shopped the malls and flea markets. Meanwhile the coaches and dads scouted some of the other hockey teams and planned the strategy for the next day. Friday night after the all star game it was the coaches game, with coach Ron Croteau strapping on the pads to represent the north team. The old veteran proved why he's been the number one goalie in the beer league for many years, putting on quite a show holding down a much younger and stronger team from the south.

Saturday at noon the boys were on the ice once more, this time meeting a big physical team from Strathmore in the semi-final round for the 'C' event. Goaltender Tyson Balash, who played excellent hockey all weekend, was awesome between the pipes stopping the rubber 45 times. This game turned into the roughest of the weekend, and the Lightning, facing elimination, battled to the bitter end but were unable to find the mesh, losing this one 2-0 and ending the season for the boys.

Considering that ten of these boys are first year bantams, and two peewees who played all season with the Lightning, they had a very good year, winning the 'B' side of their league, and look forward to next year when they will be a bigger and more experienced team.

The bantam Lightning would like to send a special thanks to Elk Point Minor Hockey and the Elk Point Elks for their generous donations toward expenses to the tournament, and to St. Paul Value Drug Mart for providing the entry fee. Also a big thanks to Hillside Service for providing pop for the trip and to Video Point for the movies.

ELK POINT B. P. O. ELKS LODGE representative Dwayne Yaremkevich presented Jerry Kopeck of the Bantam Lightning with a cheque toward the team's tournament expenses.

GREAT CANADIAN EGG RACE PROCEEDS of approximately $1800 were presented to Elk Point Minor Hockey representative Jerry Kopeck by Elk Point Thunder players Jordan Bassett (right) and Rocky Pankiw recently. The Egg Race was held on Family Day along with a variety of other entertaining events, and was much enjoyed by everyone.

Elk Point, SD news notes

South Dakota is getting ready for a bicentennial in 2004, two hundred years after explorers Meriweather Lewis and William Clark toured the area. A new Lewis and Clark Trail map has been printed, highlighting events during the expedition. A copy of the map, which accompanied our latest bundle of Leader-Couriers, says that on August 22, 1804, "Captain Clark records much 'elk sign' at a place they call Elk Point. The party elects Patrick Gass to replace Sgt. Floyd, who died two days earlier, making it the first election west of the Mississippi." Elk Point has a historical marker on Main Street which tells this story. The SD Department of Tourism, along with the Department of Transportation and the SD Arts Council, plans to erect a series of illustrated interpretive panels by the summer of 1998 along the Lewis and Clark Trail driving route, which follows the Missouri River across the state.

The Union County Historical Society is also promoting the area's historic sites, and are in the process of creating a 12-page brochure of the sites.

Union County Electric Cooperative held their 60th Annual Meeting on March 13, with director Reynold Ballinger and billing supervisor Bonnie Lanning receiving service awards for thirty years with the cooperative.

Elk Point student Emily Fletcher has been selected for the 1997 South Dakota girls basketball All-Star Team, which will play at the High School Coaches Association Convention in June.

Dedicated Elk Point volunteer Leo Huber was honored by the Elk Point Masonic Lodge for outstanding service to his community. Huber has been active with the volunteer fire department, Lions Club, Boy Scouts, Booster Club and Elk Point Ambulance, and donated time and labor to community building projects, including a new concession stand at the high school football field.

Friends of the Elk Point Community Library are excited about this year's membership campaign, which netted 110 members. They are fundraising toward a computer suitable to access the Internet.

Edgar's Soda Fountain in Elk Point is featured as one of five old-fashioned soda fountains in South Dakota in the March/April issue of the AAA South Dakota Home and Away magazine.

THE ELK POINT, SD City Auditorium now boasts a handsome new awning, which replaced a decaying concrete overhang.

Better breathing tips for springtime allergies

To many who suffer from allergies and asthma, spring is a time of sneezing, wheezing and staying indoors. Although springtime's warmer weather heralds the arrival of numerous allergens that can cause allergic reactions ranging from mild to life threatening, especially for those who suffer from asthma, hibernation is not the answer.

"Having an allergy doesn't mean you can't enjoy being outside," says Director of Health Initiatives for the Alberta Lung Association,

Catherine Good. "It means taking precautions and altering plans to minimize your risk of having allergic reaction of an asthma attack."

Thousands of Albertans suffer from hayfever of allergic rhinitis triggered by allergic reactions to tree pollen, grass pollens and mold spores. The estimated 200,000 Albertans who suffer from asthma also have to contend with air pollutants, sudden weather changes and secondhand smoke which may lead to asthma attacks. Even though air pollutants and pollens can't be completely eliminated, there are steps that can be taken to reduce exposure to allergens inside and outside the home.

The Alberta Lung Association wants to help those with asthma and allergies to breathe easier with these quick tips.

-Learn your asthma triggers and how to avoid them.

-Keep windows closed to avoid outside pollen and mold from getting in.

-Avoid touching your nose and eyes and transferring pollen there.

-Wash beds linens regularly in hot water.

-Remove carpets from bedrooms of vacuum them frequently.

-Plan outdoor activities in the afternoon. Pollen counts are usually higher in the morning.

What's news at the library?

We have much more than just books!

By Michele Ducek
Librarian

Recent queries by some new patrons made me realize that perhaps many of you are not aware of the variety of materials available at the Elk Point Public Library for use within the library or for borrowing. The Library's motto is "more than just books" and this is never more true than when considering the materials we have to offer.

Last week I mentioned a few of the magazines we have dealing with gardening. We also have three weekly news-magazines, a couple dealing with parenting and families and such popular fare as Good Housekeeping and Canadian Living. For the younger set we currently receive three magazines, Chickadee, Seventeen and Sports Illustrated for Kids. All magazines are available for borrowing for up to a week at a time. The library welcomes suggestions for other magazines and we do accept the donation of gift subscriptions.

Videos are a very popular item at the library and the library has over 300 titles in its collection of children's cartoons, Disney films, classic movies, exercise videos, National Geographic videos and informational videos. Videos can be borrowed for three days.

Visitors to the library know that I listen to CBC radio almost all of the time. When I'm not, I'm usually listening to a talking book. These are abridged or unabridged versions of books recorded on cassettes. Sometimes the author reads his own work, sometimes and actor, and sometimes a full cast with music and sound effects. Talking books are great when you're taking a trip and are tired of listening to the radio, when you're taking a walk, or even when you're vacuuming (believe me, listening to a book on tape is better than listening to your vacuum cleaner). We have a small, but growing, collection of books on tape and they can be borrowed for up to two weeks at a time.

In addition to books on tape, we also have music cassettes. Parents know we have several cassettes by popular children's entertainers and a number of Sesame Street tapes. We also have seasonal music, classical, soundtracks, country, pop and rock. If you need a recording of our national anthem, we have a tape with a number of them. If you want to check out the Elk Point Community Choir before attending their Spring Concert this year, we have both their previous recordings on cassette. Music cassettes can be borrowed for up to a week at a time.

Finally, the Elk Point Public Library does have books, and lots of them. Some recent acquisitions in adult fiction include:

When the moderator of a secret conference held at a great country estate turns up dead, Thomas Pitt is drawn into the world of Irish/English relations in Ashworth Hall by Anne Perry.

A rag doll brings a straggle and dangerous creature into the life of detective novelist Tommy Phan in Ticktock, the latest from Dean Kootz.
